OBJECTIVE

Be a productive, reliable, loyal, and honest employee. My personal goals are to find a position within a goal-oriented business, and to become part of that team to progress the business interests, brand, and my personal skills as a developer. Leading construction projects both commercial and residential has given me experience in managing people and well as clients. Tracking different scopes of work, coordinating around scheduling conflicts, and seeing a project through to completion has taught me how to troubleshoot and make decisions. These traits have been beneficial to both my work and home life. My hope is that my experiences will continue to evolve as I improve my skills and qualifications. I'm always willing to learn something new and apply that knowledge to new situations. Please see my work experience below, and I appreciate the opportunity to be considered for a spot on your team.
